Hi Jane,

I am writing to introduce you to Beth Sturgeon of Pownal, VT. Beth connected with me and Mike Donofrio, a lawyer at Stris and Maher who is on the legal team for the intervenors trying to help defend Vermont's Climate Superfund law, through a mutual friend who works in corporate environmental sustainability. Here is a bit more on Beth's recent path to and positive contributions in Vermont:

Beth has a background and day job as a consultant working on carbon accounting. She has been inspired to learn about Vermont's climate superfund effort. She is wondering whether and how she might be able to contribute to the effort. I suggested that she might connect with you to learn more about potential opportunities with the caveat that a) you are quite busy and b) you may be limited in how freely you can speak to someone outside of government because of the ongoing litigation. Nonetheless, because of Beth's professional background, I thought it might be worthwhile for you to connect. I welcome you both to coordinate without me about whether and when you might speak.

Beth—I hope I have summarized your experience and interest aptly.

Best to you both.

Onward,
Anthony
